Recognized as a best-in-class training and development program, Villagewide provides opportunities for teammates to learn, celebrate and connect with each other. This year's meeting theme, "Own the Moment," encourages teammates to take advantage of the special moments that happen in and out of the workplace.

This year's keynote speaker, Alex Sheen, founder of Because I said I would, a social movement and nonprofit dedicated to the betterment of humanity through promises made and kept, urged participants to state their values and make a sincere attempt to live by them.

"Sometimes we just need people to do what they said they were going to do in the first place - to be good to their friends and family, to volunteer in their community, to be kind to a stranger," said Sheen. "It's the promises that we make that make this world and too soon we forget."
