

Atul Mathur Named Executive Vice President of DaVita Global Operations

DENVER, Sept. 21, 2015 /PRNewswire/ -- DaVita HealthCare Partners (NYSE: DVA), a leading global provider of kidney care services and the leading independent medical group in the U.S., today announced that it has named Atul Mathur as executive vice president of global operations. Mathur has served as president of the Asia Pacific region since joining the company in 2011.

"We are excited to have Atul widen his focus on laying a strong foundation for our expanding international operations," said Kent Thiry, chairman and CEO of DaVita HealthCare Partners. "We also see a significant opportunity to develop high-quality, high-service outpatient care networks in a growing number of geographies."

In his new role, Mathur will take on additional responsibility of leading global strategy as well as organizational and international business development.

"There is significant growth potential not only in kidney care, but also in outpatient services internationally," said Dennis Kogod, CEO of DaVita HealthCare Partners International. "Atul is uniquely positioned to expand our high-quality clinical services to meet the increasing need."

Mathur previously enjoyed a 20 year career with American Express where he was SVP of International Strategy, Business Development & Partnerships based in London. He and his wife Suniti will continue to be based in Singapore.

"It is an honor to serve in this expanded role at an exciting time for our organization," said Mathur. "DaVita HealthCare Partners is bringing better quality of life to more patients, in more places and it is a privilege to be part of this journey."

Mathur will report to Kogod and continue to have operational responsibility for the Asia Pacific Region.
